Challenge

Despite their extensive offerings, customers sometimes found the array of choices overwhelming. Mistakes were not uncommon, especially with custom orders. Such errors meant that not every component could be reverted to stock, leading to inventory discrepancies. Moreover, the outdated system they had in place no longer met their operational needs and wasn't offering any support.

Why Aquilon ERP?

Doors Plus More discovered Aquilon ERP during their search for a modern and user-friendly system. They were drawn to the software's configuration tool, which aligned well with their product range. After speaking with existing Aquilon customers, they were even more convinced that it was the right choice. Aquilon stood out because it was tailored to businesses in the same industry. Most importantly, its real-time inventory and replenishment planning tools effectively addressed their inventory management challenges, while its integrated financial system streamlined their software needs into one comprehensive solution.

Results

Post the Aquilon ERP integration, Doors Plus More experienced a noticeable improvement in their operations. Mistakes in orders reduced considerably, and the real-time inventory system streamlined their processes. They recorded a 25% boost in productivity and enhanced their customer service. Financially, they noted a reduction in operational costs and working capital. Four years into using Aquilon ERP, they remain satisfied customers.
